School of the Arts for Boys Academy is enthusiastically welcoming you to join us for a Meet & Greet and sneak preview of our convenient campus at 69 Robyns Nest Lane in downtown Pittsboro, this Thursday evening starting at 6:30pm.

For Parents Considering Enrollment At SABA

Please drop by to meet our team, ask questions and learn more about North Carolina's first charter school designed exclusively to educate young boys in the community. If you've decided that SABA is the local school best qualified to educate your son, or you at least want to reserve a place in the enrollment process, we can even help you submit your application on the spot!

For Families Who Have Enrolled To Join Us This Fall

This is the perfect time for your "Sneak Peek" at our new facility and to get to know our educators a little better. We'll also be happy to answer any questions you may have about the enrollment process.

We'll even have free pizza for all while it lasts! Please plan to be part of the festivities this Thursday evening!

Where exactly is SABA located?

SABA will be welcoming our Kings in grades 3-to-6 to our school in the heart of Pittsboro beginning August 14.

We're located a mile away from the downtown courthouse, just off the intersection of US 15-501 and NC-87.

This means SABA is easy to reach from all parts of Chatham and neighboring counties. If you live or work in communities such as Siler City, Sanford, Moncure, Fearington, Chapel Hill, Carrboro, Apex or Saxapahaw, it's a short, simple drive from your home to ours!

SABA In The Community

Do you have more questions about SABA? Would you like to volunteer to be a bigger part of our family?

The SABA team will be visible in Chatham County and surrounding communities at many locations in the coming days. Please plan to drop by and introduce yourself! We'll be happy to answer your questions and to welcome you to the SABA family.
